BUILD & BREACH: THE BLUEPRINT BATTLE

OFFICIAL TEAM ROLES & MODIFIERS (ROUND 2)

1. The Industrial Tycoon (The Money Maker)

The Perk: Red sticky notes (Factories/Industrial) cost 50% less.

The Constraint: Heavy pollution tax. Must place at least 3 Green sticky notes (Eco Parks), and those Green notes cost double.

2. The Eco-Visionary (The Green Mayor)

The Perk: All Green sticky notes are completely free.

The Constraint: Zero Tolerance for Pollution. Banned from placing any Red (Industrial) sticky notes within a 2-block radius of the River or Yellow (Residential) zones. Disqualification if violated.

3. The Tech Mogul (The Smart City Planner)

The Perk: Blue sticky notes (Tech Parks, Hospitals) score 2x bonus points during final evaluation.

The Constraint: Premium lifestyle costs money. Starting Base Budget is slashed by 20%.

4. The Real Estate Shark (The Builder)

The Perk: Receives 4 Yellow sticky notes (Residential/Housing) absolutely free at the start.

The Constraint: All Yellow sticky notes must be placed together in one giant connected block (a mega-society). Cannot scatter housing.

5. The Corrupt Politician (The Gambler)

The Perk: 'Black Money' injection. Gets a massive bonus of +40L added to the starting budget.

The Constraint: The Anti-Corruption Raid. Exactly 2 minutes before the timer ends, the host will randomly tear out 2 sticky notes (seized properties). The team must fix the layout in 120 seconds.

6. The Crisis Manager (The Rule Breaker)

The Perk: Master of Terrain. The ONLY team allowed to place sticky notes directly on top of the River/Highway boundaries (representing bridges/dams) without penalty.

The Constraint: High-pressure environment. Must step away from their map at the 25-minute mark. Their round ends 5 minutes early.

7. The Speedrunner (The Sprinter)

The Perk: Massive +50L bonus added to their starting budget.

The Constraint: Extreme time crunch. They only get 15 Minutes to complete their map while others get 30. They must drop their markers exactly at half-time.

8. The Philanthropist (The Caretaker)

The Perk: Social welfare bonus. If they build exactly an equal number of Yellow (Housing) and Blue (Hospitals/Tech) notes, their final score gets a flat +20 point boost.

The Constraint: Anti-capitalist. Red (Industrial) notes cost them double the normal price.

9. The Logistics Master (The Transporter)

The Perk: Immune to pollution penalties. They can place Red (Industrial) zones right next to Yellow (Residential) zones without losing any points.

The Constraint: Must leave a continuous, straight 2-grid wide 'Mega Highway' completely empty, cutting across their entire map from one edge to the other.

10. The Perfectionist (The Architect)

The Perk: Masterpiece multiplier. If their final city design is perfectly symmetrical (either left/right or top/bottom), their total score is multiplied by 1.5x.

The Constraint: If the judges find their map asymmetrical, they lose 30% of their total points instantly.

11. The Suburb Developer (The Local Planner)

The Perk: Cheap housing. All Yellow (Residential) notes cost 50% less.

The Constraint: Backward infrastructure. They are completely banned from using any Blue sticky notes (No Tech Parks or major Hospitals allowed).

12. The Megacity Mayor (The Expansionist)

The Perk: Unlimited Funds. This team has no budget limit and can buy as many sticky notes as they want.

The Constraint: Overpopulation rule. They MUST cover at least 80% of their A3 Grid with sticky notes. If they leave too much empty space, they are disqualified.

13. The Tourist Trap (The Attraction)

The Perk: Tourism income. For every Green (Eco Park) note they place, they get to place one Yellow (Housing) note for absolutely free.

The Constraint: Congestion. All Red and Blue sticky notes must be clustered strictly in one single corner of the A3 map.

14. The Underdog (The Efficiency Expert)

The Perk: The ultimate flex. If this team manages to build a functional city while spending the least amount of budget among all 15 teams, they get a direct wildcard entry to Round 3.

The Constraint: They start the game with only 50% of the standard Base Budget.

15. The Dictator (The Absolute Ruler)

The Perk: Supreme authority. They can ignore all standard zoning logic (e.g., placing factories in the river or next to parks) and the judges cannot deduct logic penalty points.

The Constraint: No care for citizens. They are not allowed to place a single Green (Eco Park) sticky note on their map.
